Hellur! Wha' ch 'yer doerin'?

THIS TICKED ME OFF

I was doing an interview recently and the interviewer asked me why was I glorifying single moms. I explained to him that single moms needed to be celebrated, not ostracized. Most single moms are not that way by choice. Circumstance caused them to be in that situation and just like my Aunt Jerry, who raised four boys by herself, she never complained and never asked for handouts.... See More

	Time for Some Campaignin' In our first election satire since 2004's "This Land" and "Good to be in DC", we bid farewell to Bush and give Obama and McCain a proper JibJab hazing! And, of course, who could forget about Hillary and Bill? This rip-roaring musical romp gives the election process the proper...

November 1991 🕒

In May 1989, I began writing actively mainly in the form of letters to the editor and op-eds. Below is a guest editorial in the Saudi Gazette that appeared in Nov. 1989.

I became very activist writing about political subjects including voicing opposition to US interventionism in the Middle East and the Philippines and writing in many international publications like Arab News and Saudi Gazette in Saudi Arabia, the Statesman in India, Kayhan International in Iran and in many Filipino American newspapers.

The period was very tumultuous culminating in the Gulf War, the end of the Cold War, breakup of the Soviet Union, the eruption of Mt. Pinatubo resulting in "global cooling" and the closure of US bases in the Philippines in 1990-1.

I decided to make a permanent "career change" and got a degree in political journalism and I continue to write for pay, for causes and for fun up to this day. — in Sacramento, CA.

Born on November 26, 1959

In Clark, Pampanga, Philippines. Parents — Vilma Manansala and Pete Manansala.

Hometown — Clark, Pampanga, Philippines.

Born on Thanksgiving night at 7:37 pm local time at the Clark AFB hospital. The delivering doctor had to leave his holiday meal.

I celebrate my birthday on Thanksgiving since that is when the family gathers from all around.

My birth name is Agapito Apollo Concengco Manansala, Jr. As a toddler, I was called "Pol," which is a shortened form of Apollo.

My teachers thought I was named Paul, so that name stuck since grade school. Kekai is a Hawaiian halau name given to me by kumu hula Naomi Kalama that means "the sea."
